MAINE LAND CONSERVATION CONFERENCE

In support of the Maine Land Trust
Program and Maine's land trust community

Tuesday | April 29 - 30

Augusta Civic Center, Augusta

As Maine's premier gathering for the land trust community, this annual conference provides two days of training, collaboration, and exploration of pressing issues. This year's focus centers on a positive vision for the future of conservation and supporting climate action in Maine.

Key components:

10 - 12 workshops and roundtables on April 30th covering critical topics like climate resilience, best practices in land trust management, and community engagement.

Extended learning sessions and special interest gatherings on April 29th.

Social gathering on the evening of April 29th, with refreshments and entertainment.

A robust community of professionals, advocates, and stakeholders working together to build a stronger conservation movement.

Expanded exhibitor opportunities on April 30th: This year at the Civic Center, Land Fair exhibitors will enjoy more exposure to event attendees and more time to engage with them.

Audience: The conference draws over 300 attendees from Maine's land trust community, including conservation professionals, board members, and policymakers.
